A GENERAL CLEANING UP DESIRED.—
The enn shines out brightly now, and nearly as warmly as midsummer. On yetterday afternoon the heat compelled many pedestrians to hunt the shady sides of the streets. These facts should remind the authorities of the necessity of cleaning sireets and alleys, and prompting citizens at the same time of the importance of removing at once all siagnant vegetable, decaying and disagreeable odiferous secumulations and rubbish from their premises. Make your cellars and other apartments sweet with a pure atmosphere. So shall you ward off disease, and dwell long and happily in the places the good Providence hath given you. "The Mollie Maguires"—A drama called "The Mollie Maguires"—written, we believe, by Mr. Albert Aiken, of New York—was produced in the Opera House last night by Budworth & Forbes' dramatic company before a rather small audience. The drama was preceded by a farce called "That Blessed Baby," which seemed to please the audience. There are some queer scenes in Aiken's "Mollies," and the acting, with but few exceptions, was queerer still. Frank Budworth appeared in his negro specialities, and did them well, bringing down the house every time. He is an excellent negro commedian, and about the only performer in the company of decided merit. However, there are plenty of "startling situations" and "thrilling tableaux" in the piece, which continued to keep many in the audience interested in the denouement, which our representative did not wait to see.
